LOGLINE

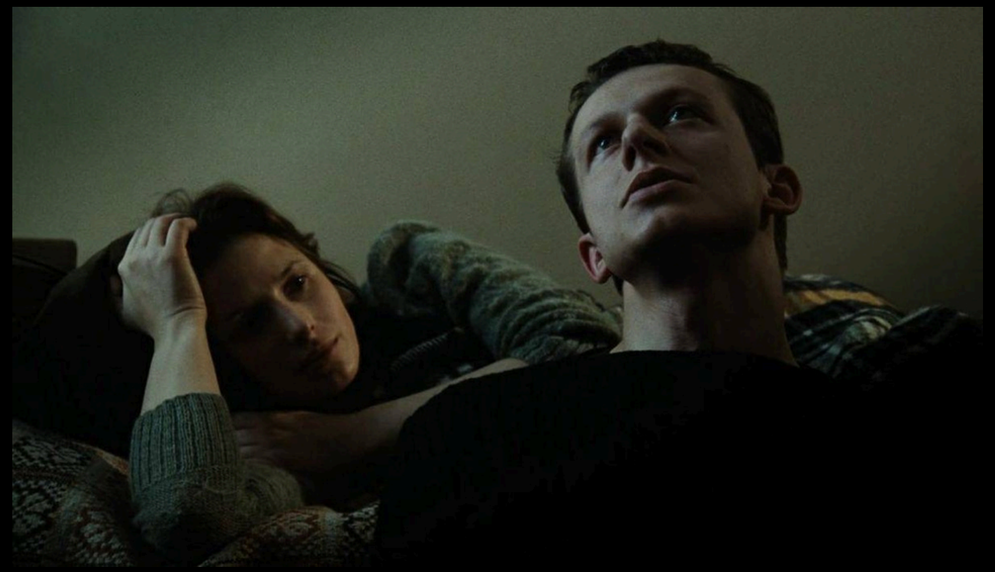

Wanting to overcome their problems with intimacy, a separated couple meets for what could be the last time - or the start of something new.

Untouched Love

SYNOPSIS

Eliza is waiting outside a hotel room she has booked together with Gustave. She knocks. He lets her in, and a conversation ensues in which the initially reserved Gustave and the seemingly self assured Eliza gradually open up emotionally. Although they were once a couple, reconnecting is difficult; they haven’t seen each other for three months.

Untouched Love

SYNOPSIS

However, they still sense a certain connection between them. They are aware of their shared reluctance to get close. That is, above all, why their relationship failed. Both are prepared to overcome these fears. However, they have different approaches. Whilst Gustave is still hesitant and would prefer to take things slowly, Eliza wants to sort things out that very evening.

Untouched Love

SYNOPSIS

Their attempt to touch one another and sustain a prolonged touch turns into a game played with their fingertips. A game more erotic than merely two bodies united superficially. Physically apart, yet united in spirit. Yet they both know it will never be enough for a relationship.
